From the Education
Committee:
How to be a Better
Virtual Communicator

As part of our new emphasis on education, we have chosen to start with a program on Communication.

As professionals in Facility Management or related services and products, we all know the importance of continuing education.

With that in mind, we are going to start offering resources and info sessions on Communication as one of the 11 IFMA Competencies.

Be watching for more information on a live webinar on this subject presented by some of our members who have extensive experience in this area.

How to be a Better Virtual Communicator

We have members in the field learning from speakers who have adapted their keynotes and trainings from live, in person main stage events and taken them successfully into the virtual world.

Be sure to check our COVID-19 Resources page often!

VIP Exchange: Virtual Leadership helps anyone be a better virtual presenter for free. The host and creator is Steven Iwersen, and he has new guest speakers each week Tuesday nights at 6pm.

Below are two speakers that are a MUST listen! We hope you enjoy them!

Crystal Washington, Tech Futurist

David Avri, Customer Service and Marketing Professional
